

The Seas

ROCK / METAL / PROGRESSIVE / INDUSTRIAL SOUTHEASTERN KENTUCKY

The Seas is a four-piece rock band from Southeastern Kentucky. Formed in late 2009, Michael Sliter, Logan Powell, Jeremy Williams and Richard Sester began creating music that juxtaposed a heavy and aggressive style with textural, atmospheric elements. Taking inspiration from such bands as Nine Inch Nails, Tool and Deftones, The Seas have forged a sound that is powerful & emotional, crafting their own premium blend of metal, alternative, progressive and industrial genres.

On August 30, 2011, The Seas released their debut album, "A Separation." Recorded at Groove Studio in Berea, Kentucky, "A Separation" showcased the musicianship and creativity of the band. The album carefully weaves moody and melancholy tones with progressive riffs and odd time signatures into a refreshing and accessible style that defines The Seas signature sound.

In late 2014, The Seas entered 13 O' Clock Studios in Richmond, Kentucky to begin tracking their second full-length album. Released on August 30, 2015, "Give up the Ghost" emanates The Seas distinctive sound, but sets itself apart with matured, polished songwriting and standout performances, sure to excite both new listeners and long-time fans.

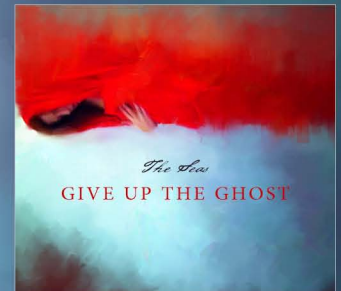

On stage, the band delivers an authentic, high-energy performance with every ounce of the layered, dimensional sound heard on their albums. Be sure to follow The Seas on Facebook & Twitter for show info & new releases.

"Give Up The Ghost is a full on tour de force... exceptional songwriting and raw emotion."

(The Music Guy - Album Review)

"One of the best rock voices I have heard in a long time... this album is AMAZING!"
